Assam University, Silchar

A Central University established by an Act of parliament of 1989

www.aus.ac.in

About the University

Assam University, Silchar, is a Central University established by an Act of the Indian Parliament (Act XXIII of 1989), and came into existence in 1994. Situated in the Barak Valley of southern Assam, the University is nestled in a sprawling 600-acre campus at Dargakona, about 23 km from Silchar town. In 2007, Assam University opened a satellite campus at Diphu in the Karbi Anglong Hills District of Assam, thereby making quality higher education accessible to a wider section of society. Apart from the two campuses of the University, there are 65 affiliated colleges in the five districts of south Assam, which together constitute the jurisdiction of Assam University.

Community College

The Community College sponsored by UGC as a constituent unit within the jurisdiction of Assam University, Silchar, started in the year 2015-2016 to impart Vocational & skill based Education and Training to learners at the undergraduate level. The Community College at Assam University is currently offering one year full-time Diploma in Photography and Video Production..

About the Seminar

India is one of the few countries in the world where the working age population will be far in excess of those dependent on them and, as per the World Bank, this will continue for at least three decades till 2040. This has increasingly been recognized as a potential source of significant strength for the national economy, provided we are able to equip and continuously upgrade the skills of the population in the working age group.

Youth is very important proportion of any society and it is seen as an advantage, even characterized as a “demographic dividend”. By 2020, an average Indian is expected to be only 29 years old, as against 37 in China and the United States. His counterpart in Western Europe would be 45 and the average Japanese, 48 years old. Youth (the population in 13 - 35 years age group) have specific socioeconomic needs and play an important role in determining the future trend of economic development of any region. Therefore, it becomes extremely important to provide them with adequate educational facilities as well as income-earning opportunities.

Call for Papers
